Deep Embedded Patterns

Arbah Healing allows you to establish within the Aura the codes for change. It is used to instill certain energies for an overall positive result.

To encourage spiritual growth within you, an energy is introduced with a code imprinted into it. This neutral energy is called Arbah, a "Plasma Current."

This process can take up to 2 weeks to complete and is similar to an organ transplant for the aura. It is therefore also capable of rejection.

Over this two week period, your energy and personality will change as the Arbah energy encourages you to reconstruct new energy from within, having been given the pattern to copy from. Whether this happens depends on your will towards self growth.
